Comment: The Carpentaria pipeline transported gas from SW Queensland to customers in the state's NW, and primarily the 200 MW Mica Creek power station in Mount Isa. Construction of the $180 million pipeline began in April 1997 and first gas flowed in April 1998. The pipeline had a MAOP of 14,800 kPa and a base load of 15 PJpa gas, but with compression, was capable of carrying three times that volume. It was able therefore to supply gas to mining developments in the Carpentaria region as they came onstream. In 1999, the pipeline carried gas for a number of projects in NW Queensland including BHP Ltd's Cannington mine, WMC Ltd's fertiliser plant at Phosphate Hill, and Pasmenco's Century zinc mine.
